COMPREHENSIVE DENTAL TREATMENT

FIRST CONSIDERATION – residents who have already established a good patient-dentist relationship should explain their financial limitations to their dentist and request the most cost-effective treatment plan estimate before changing dentists. There is often more than one treatment plan that will achieve the goal of oral health. It is generally better to stick with a dentist one trusts and who knows the patient's needs as well as their medical and dental history. The practice's financial manager may be able to work out an acceptable payment schedule according to the patient's ability to pay for services.

Residents who decide to try one of the locations on this list should first contact the office by phone to find out the office's business hours and documentation requirements. Website addresses are provided, when available, for additional information.
